

Susan Moran

Deputy Director, Population Health and Community Services Michigan Department of Health and Human Services

Susan Moran is the deputy director for Population Health and Community Services for the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

Previously, Moran served in a similar role as senior deputy director of the Public Health Administration for the former Michigan Department of Community Health, in which she led agency surveillance and response to health issues, prevention of illness and injury, improvements in access to care and promotion of health equity.

She oversees the Bureau of Laboratories, Epidemiology, Chronic Disease and Injury Control, Maternal Child Health, Office of Public Health Preparedness, as well as the support of Michigan's 45 local health departments.

Moran has served as director of quality improvement at a Lansing-based managed care organization and, from 1998 to 2013, as the director of the Bureau of Medicaid Program Operations and Quality Assurance for the Michigan Department of Community Health. In that role, she oversaw the administration of the state's Medicaid managed care program which provides health care coverage to a majority of the state's 2 million Medicaid beneficiaries.
